Dried Egg

Premium Shelf-Stable Ingredients

Dried egg product performs like real egg because it is real egg—it's simply dehydrated.

With dried egg product from Nuvin™, your formulations and processes can receive all the benefits of fresh egg without constant concerns about spoilage.

Dried egg product is non-perishable; when made and stored correctly, it can last for a long time. The process—known as spray-drying—resembles that of making powdered milk. It rapidly dehydrates the liquid egg to create a soft, easy-to-handle powder that can be incorporated into a number of different edible products.

Benefits:

- All the nutritional benefits of a fresh egg: protein, immune-boosting properties, antibacterial qualities, and more
- Highest-quality protein available to pet-food manufacturers
- Highly digestible, delivering important antioxidants and other nutrients
- Smaller in volume than fresh eggs, allowing smaller packaging
- Reduced weight per volume, for handling and shipping efficiency
- Affordability—increase sales and boost your brand without spending a lot of money
- Long shelf life without refrigeration—ideal for dry pet foods typically stored in unrefrigerated bags or plastic containers
- Low ash content; free of eggshells and non-egg materials
- Healthy addition to the diets of both cats and dogs

Remember that “egg product” is not a standard ingredient when compared to “eggs.” Dried egg product is just as safe as a fresh egg—in some cases, especially with regard to reducing the risk of spoilage, it's even safer.
